

About Eden Farms

Eden Farms is a coalition of some 25 small family farmers mostly located in Iowa and was established in 1998. The Berkshire lineage has been known for high quality meat for more than 350 years. Not only is Berkshire always tender, juicy and flavorful, but Eden Farms Berkshire hogs are raised in a healthy, environmentally friendly way. Eden Farms' producers are committed to a strict code of responsible and humane husbandry.

Eden is 100% producer owned -- all profits go back to the farmers so they can remain profitable. Eden hogs are raised outdoors, or in partially covered structures with deep-bedding. This allows them room to run around outside and inside and have choices regarding their environment. Eden Natural hogs receive no sub therapeutic or growth promoting antibiotics, hormones, or rendered bi-products. On tasting quality, Kelly Biensen, Eden's founding farmer is vigilant about controlling their genetics to ensure a great tasting product every time. Kelly is one of the best Berkshire breeders around as he's raised berks his whole life. Eden also hand inspects EVERY loin at the packing plant. We at PREFERRED MEATS work closely with Eden Natural and are proud to supply our chefs with this exceptional pork!
